The life you want to live
starts here

To teach, to delight and to inspire.

At University of the Pacific, our faculty members teach, delight and inspire students every day. They are passionate about their fields of study, eager to share their expertise and dedicated to each student's success.

We are committed to providing students like you with a broad and rigorous education that will lead you to question your assumptions and seek innovative solutions to life's challenges. When you graduate from University of the Pacific, you'll be prepared to lead in your community and in your profession. What's more, you'll be capable of spreading the knowledge that you've gained in your own life to enrich and enliven the world around you.

You'll make a difference.

LEARN BY DOING

Will you spend every waking moment hunched over a textbook? We hope not. Our students certainly spend time in class, but many of their most valuable lessons occur outside the classroom.

Pacific students are studying the environment by measuring water quality on the San Joaquin Delta. They're interning with legislators at the state capitol. They're honing their theatrical skills by staging on-campus plays.

At Pacific, you don't have to wait until you graduate to get real, hands-on experience. We make sure that you have that opportunity the moment you walk on campus, because we know that students learn best by doing.

At Pacific, you'll have real access to some of the world's most accomplished and innovative professors. Our professors are as dedicated to teaching as they are to making breakthroughs.

Both The Economist and Brookings Institute rank Pacific as one of the top universities in the nation. We're proud of our position among so many large, prestigious colleges, but we're prouder still of our intimate environment.

Our average class size is between 10 and 19 students, and our student-to-faculty ratio is an impressive 13 to 1. It all adds up to a world-class education in a supportive atmosphere that you just won't find anywhere else.

Life at Pacific

Our campus is a diverse and vibrant community with dozens of social and professional organizations that celebrate and honor the cultures, heritages and beliefs of our students, faculty and staff. One of the most ethnically diverse universities in the United States, Pacific brings students from all walks of life together.

The heart of Pacific life is the Donald and Karen DeRosa University Center, which students and staff affectionately refer to as "the DUC." Here, you'll find extensive dining options, featuring everything from vegan/vegetarian fare to home-style favorites in our Marketplace; fresh-brewed coffee in the Calaveras Coffee House; and snacks and beverages in The Lair, Pacific's on-campus pub. Whether you're engaged in a fierce video game tournament in the Game Room, watching the latest sporting events and news on the screens throughout the University Center or relaxing on the lawn with friends, Pacific has a space that's right for you.

At Pacific, students are engaged. They're asking questions, finding their own answers and having fun along the way.

ATHLETICS

Go, Tigers! Pacific's 7 men's and 11 women's sports teams compete in NCAA Division I. The university was one of the founding members of the West Coast Conference.

CAMPUS RECREATION AND FITNESS

With concerts featuring chart-topping artists, 17 intramural sports clubs, a 32-foot rock-climbing tower, over 150 student clubs and organizations and community outreach opportunities, campus life at Pacific complements and enriches your academic and professional studies.

At Pacific, you'll enjoy high-quality leisure and wellness programming, including:

› Intramural Sports

Participate in a wide variety of competitive and noncompetitive leagues and tournaments. Events are available for men's, women's and co-ed teams and are designed for skill levels ranging from beginner to advanced.

› Sports Clubs

Enjoy playing on a competitive or recreational sports team at the collegiate level. Each club is student-run, and the teams vary in level of structure and competitiveness.

› Tiger Escapes

Explore the region through Pacific's Tiger Escapes program. Choose from a variety of leisurely and adventurous day trips that capitalize on northern California's remarkable outdoor opportunities.

› Fitness

Whether you want to attend one of more than 35 fitness classes, consult with a personal trainer or become an instructor, there is always something going on at the Baun Fitness Center. The facility offers classes such as yoga and dance as well as specialized training equipment and free-weight machines.

CAMPUS SAFETY

Pacific is committed to providing a safe educational and working environment for all students, staff, faculty, alumni and guests. Pacific's Public Safety provides 24-hour protection on campus. Public Safety provides a full range of police services, including, but not limited to, crime prevention and investigation, making arrests, calls for services, traffic enforcement, parking enforcement and security at special events.

In addition, Pacific offers a nighttime shuttle that runs Thursday through Saturday evenings from 6:30 p.m. until 2:00 a.m., making it easy and safe for students to travel across campus at night.

California

California is famous for its warm and sunny climate, dramatic coastline, soaring mountains and ancient redwood forests.

Known as California's Sunrise Seaport, Stockton is located where the San Joaquin River and the Delta Region waterways meet, making it a transportation hub and watersports destination. Stockton is a 90-minute drive from San Francisco, a 40-minute drive from a Bay Area Rapid Transit station (BART) and less than a one-hour drive from downtown Sacramento. Stockton is close to popular hiking, skiing and camping destinations such as Lake Tahoe, Yosemite National Park and the Mother Lode.

INNOVATION AND ENTREPRENEURSHIP

Pacific and its neighboring universities are key drivers of innovation, entrepreneurship and technology. The area has the largest group of research universities and federal research institutions in the United States, with its colleges and universities producing more Ph.D. scientists and engineers than any other U.S. metropolitan area.

Sacramento, California's capital city, offers opportunities across many areas of government and healthcare. Nearby San Francisco offers extensive networking and professional development opportunities and is home to many of the world's leading companies and innovative start-ups across the following sectors:

- › Information technology and software
- › Social and digital media
- › Life sciences and biotechnology
- › Environmental and clean technology
- › Professional services
- › International business

Degree Offerings

Pacific truly gives you the best of both worlds: the nurturing learning environment of a small liberal arts school combined with the broad range of majors that you'd normally find at much larger universities. You can double major, take courses from any of the university's professional schools or design a major of your own.

Pacific Experiences

"I know it might seem a little crazy, but the thing I love about Pacific is, when you get involved on campus, you really get involved. It wasn't hard for me to balance everything because Pacific is so student oriented; if I was having a super tough week, everyone on campus helped me make it work. It was great. I definitely found a second home at Pacific."

Misha Maggi '09 & '11
B.A., English and Film Studies
M.A., Educational Administration,
Leadership and Student Affairs

"I learned essential skills for dealing with diverse backgrounds—interpersonal, problem-solving, critical-thinking and leadership skills. All the things I learned will hopefully help me give back to my community once I graduate. 'We make a living by what we get. We make a life by what we give.' I think I definitely learned that here."

Michael (Mikey) Jimenez, '15
Engineering Management

"Pacific is known for its small classroom sizes and as a place where professors know your name. However, over my years as a student, I have come to appreciate that it is so much more than this. I found a diverse and inclusive community at Pacific, with rich learning experiences both in and outside the classroom. Pacific faculty from the Psychology and Sociology departments have played an instrumental role not only in my success as a student, but also in my professional and civic endeavors. Their mentorship and guidance paved the way for me to achieve my dreams."

Aroosa Ahmed, '16

Together, these facets of the program combine to create a learning-centered environment that promotes academic success, active involvement in campus life and community engagement.

The Undergraduate Accelerator program that's right for you depends on your academic background, level of English-language proficiency and personal preferences; however, all Undergraduate Accelerator programs offer the following:

Alumni Stories

Young, talented students from around the world come to Pacific to experience a vibrant, student-centered learning environment. Graduates are prepared to practice their professions at the highest level, engage in international affairs and lead global businesses and organizations. Here are a few alumni who have left lasting marks throughout their careers.

José Hernandez, '85

ASTRONAUT

The son of migrant farm workers, José Hernandez went from dreaming under the stars to actually reaching them. The 1985 Pacific graduate and former NASA astronaut was one of seven crewmembers aboard the Discovery space shuttle when it was launched into space on August 28, 2009. Hernandez served as a flight engineer and operated the shuttle's robotic arm. Born in French Camp and raised in Stockton, José attended Pacific through the Community Involvement Program (CIP), a scholarship program for underrepresented students. Here, he earned a bachelor's degree in electrical engineering. He later received a master's degree in the same field from the University of California, Santa Barbara.

Dave Brubeck, '42

PIANIST AND COMPOSER

Jazz icon Dave Brubeck was a world-renowned pianist and composer of jazz and classical music. His experimentation with unexplored time signatures introduced millions of listeners to jazz. A 1942 graduate of Pacific, Brubeck achieved extraordinary success throughout his music career, including the Dave Brubeck Quartet's highly acclaimed album Time Out (1959), which sold more than 1 million copies. While attending Pacific, he met his wife, Iola Whitlock, who would later become his business manager and lyricist. A plaque marking the spot where Dave first met Iola can be found inside the Faye Spanos Concert Hall.

Khushwinder Gill, '06

PRINCIPAL

To combat the low test scores and lack of physical activity that affect schoolchildren across the country, 2006 Pacific graduate Khushwinder Gill has implemented successful after-school programs. He was named "Principal of the Year" by California Governor Jerry Brown in 2011.

Mark Amodei, '83

CONGRESSMAN

Mark Amodei became a U.S. congressman after winning a seat in the U.S. House of Representatives on September 13, 2011. After handily winning a special election to fill a vacant House seat, the 1983 Pacific graduate now represents Nevada's Congressional District 2.

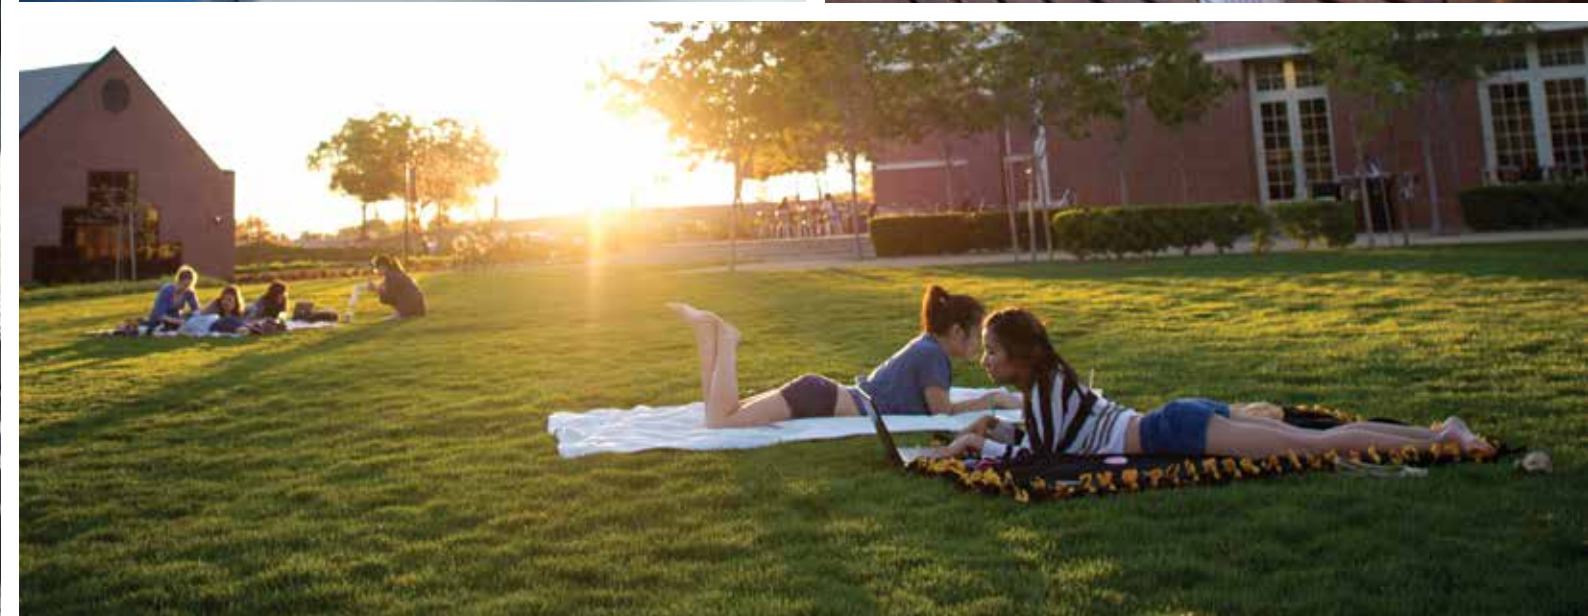

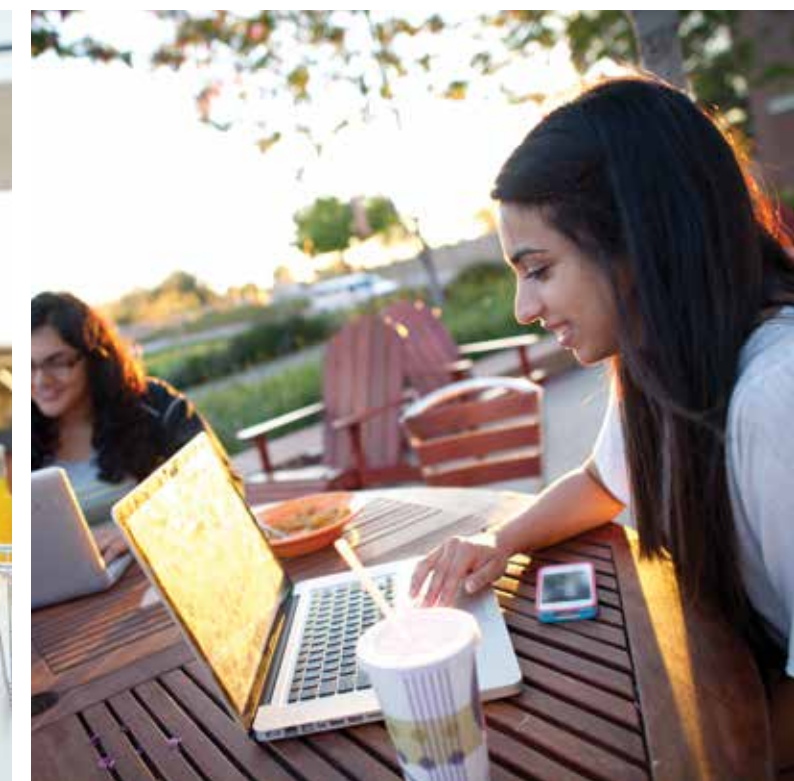

Scott Boras, '77 & '82

SPORTS AGENT

Scott Boras is one of the most powerful people in Major League Baseball. The former minor-league outfielder has negotiated some of the game's biggest contracts, including a 10-year, $252 million contract for Yankees infielder Alex Rodriguez. At Pacific, Boras was an outfielder and captain of the baseball team.

Live and Dine

National studies have shown that students who live on campus earn higher grades, are more likely to graduate and report higher levels of satisfaction with their collegiate experience.

HOUSING

University of the Pacific is a residential university. Most of its students live on campus in residence halls operated by the University's Housing Office. Although most residence halls are coeducational (for both men and women), students live in dorm rooms with roommates of the same gender. The university also has facilities exclusively for women. The university requires all first and second-year students to live in university housing. Exceptions may be made for those living with their parent(s) or for those who request to live off campus for medical or religious reasons. The university has limited facilities for married students.

DINING

Pacific offers a variety of dining options through different plans and facilities, including the Marketplace (the main dining hall), The Lair, Calaveras Coffee House, Davey Café, Health Sciences Café, the Grove and the E.A.T. gourmet food truck. Each facility features a variety of menus, which include options such as salads, homestyle soups, a wide selection of entrées and vegetables, freshly baked desserts and beverages. At least one vegetarian entrée is featured at each meal.

All students living on campus are required to participate in a meal plan. Instead of having a limited number of meals per day or year, you have the ability to use Dining Points to buy food that you want to eat, whenever and wherever you are hungry. The Resident Dining Account works like a debit card, which you load with prepaid funds at the beginning of each semester.
